DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Double Patenting

2. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claim 1 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6,760,562. This is a double patenting rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Nishida et al (6,760,562). The image forming apparatus by Nishida et al. comprises (a) an image carrying body on which a toner image is formed; and (b) a transfer device provided in contact with the image carrying body for transferring the toner image formed on the image carrying body onto a transfer material, wherein the following specific mutual relation with respect to surface property between the image carrying body and the transfer material is satisfied: an angle of contact of the image carrying body for pure water when T second has passed after the pure water was dropped on a surface thereof is greater than an angle of contact of the transfer material for pure water when T second has passed after the pure water was dropped on a surface thereof, where T represents a transit time of toner particles through a contact area of the image carrying body with the transfer device (column 6, lines 6-31).

Art Unit: 2852

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-10 are allowed.

Prior Art

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yoshida et al. (5,731,122) teaches a photosensitive member having a contact angle with water of 85 degrees or more. Mohri et al. (6,233,424) teaches an intermediate transfer member having a contact angle with water of 80 degrees or more. Watanabe et al. (6,920,300) teaches an image forming apparatus wherein the contact angle for water with the image carrier is larger than the contact angle for water with the transfer member.
